As a village resident I believe this footpath to be an authentic and important part of the local history of the area.

The foot path has been there for centuries and there is a right to walk it and should be preserved as it is for people who live in the area. The people who bought the land with a public footpath going through it, can't assume can move it to move it to suit them and not the community at large !

I don't agree with moving this footpath. It's a public throughway, and to move it will limit its accessibility to some people.

It's an historic footpath and has been in place far longer than the current owners.
It's a well used footpath.

Part of the beauty of this path is the view it affords. Moving this to the edge of the woodland obliterates that entirely. As the path was there when the land was purchased, it should stay where it is. If you don't like it, sell the land on. A fenced-in bypass is not equivalent.

There does not appear to be any reason to move it from its current historic position. There is no mention of it in any plans within the newly agreed village statement either. Who is it supposed to benefit?

I regularly walk this route and it's a vital & historic pathway. Moving it will have huge negative impacts not limited to the increased pitch at the side. The overgrown/overhanging forestry there causing obstacles and issues and the increase likely hood of it becoming boggy due to shade there. The new owners bought this house in full knowledge of a historic pathway connected to the Magna Carta running through the field, it's completely inappropriate to try and block access the villagers have enjoyed for generations. It would in all likelihood destroy the villages most popular circular walk.

The alternative path will inevitably become waterlogged due to its low position along the old ditch line. it will be unpassable in the winter.

it seems the new owner plans to be a disgraceful arse for no better reason than their own greed and convenience, totally disrepecting a pathway that was clearly on the map when they bought it. however, there are too many reasons not to keep this part of the historic Magna Carta Way exactly where it is; exactly as it has been for hundreds of years.

Whilst not a resident these days Scotch Pastures holds so many great memories for my family. I appreciate things change but `it was always a focal point for our snow days and dog walking

The footpath has been there for centuries and still enjoyed by many I cannot see any reasonable reason to move it

They shouldn't have bought the property if they didn't like the ancient footpath. These footpaths run through thousands of privately owned lands. Get over it or move
